Child

Innocently sleeping peacefully
Rest your weary head – enjoy your dreams
Climb sugar hills, see golden streams
Drifting by in a land where everything is make believe

Child

With horizons truly infinite
Dream and you explore the great unknown
You'll find that with each day you've grown
A little wiser through the joys of your imagination

You will inherit the earth
A new life with every day
Somewhere beyond the brightest star
You will see visions of true delight

In your perfect world
There will be everything
To comfort you, my child

Sun and the moon
And the sea and the stars
They all belong to you
Ever more
So cherish all
These earthly gifts
These precious gifts
That we entrust to you
